

Eucarpia Leafy Vegetables symposium

14-17th April 2015

Hotel Mercure Thalasia
San Pedro del Pinatar (Spain)

We are delighted to invite you to the 2015 Eucarpia Leafy Vegetables Congress, which will be held in the beautiful and relaxing environment of San Pedro del Pinatar, near Murcia, in Spain.

The conference aims to facilitate communication and discussion between academic and industry participants who seek to improve all aspects of leafy vegetables quality, from breeding, to production, to postharvest handling using multidisciplinary approaches.

We have chosen this location and time of year as it is in the heart of the Spanish production season which supplies many other regions of Northern and Eastern Europe. The conference includes a technical tour for all delegates within the cost of registration so that they can appreciate the local commercial environment.

The congress is divided into five main sessions covering the following themes: Preharvest abiotic and biotic stress, Improving structural and functional crop resilience, Postharvest quality, Exploring genetic diversity.

Contact Information

Organizers

Dr Carol Wagstaff, University of Reading: c.wagstaff@reading.ac.uk

Dr Maria Isabel Gil, CEBAS CSIC: migil@cebas.csic.es

Technical Secretariat

Manuel Celdrán: congresos@verticesur.es

Web Page

<http://www.eucarpia2015.org>

